To Whom It May Concern,

I am delighted to write a letter of enthusiastic recommendation for Marlys and Gary Johnson and their tag-team presentation. They visited our Cancer Institute at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center on February 2, 2010 and we feel very fortunate to have heard their story.

What I appreciated most about the presentation was that it was genuine, unpretentious, practical, and heartwarming. As Director of the Cancer Survivorship & Rehabilitation program, it was important for me that it would not be over-reaching, biased, and dogmatic—and it certainly was not. The feedback I received from those in attendance was uniformly positive. The simple themes of nutrition, physical activity, attitude and faith was well received and honestly presented.

I believe any cancer center (both staff and patients) would benefit from hearing their story and meaningful message.

Sincerely,
